Insider attack leaves six Afghan police dead in Herat province

1/27/2014

A member of the Afghan police opened fire on his fellow policemen and shot dead six of them in western Herat province of Afghanistan.

According to local government officials, the incident took place Monday morning in a police check post in Kushki Kohna district of Herat province.

A local security official speaking on the condition of anonymity confirmed the report and said the assailant militant managed to flee the area after the attack.

The official further added that the police officer also took the weapons with him.

It is yet not clear if the assailant soldier had any connections with the militant groups, the official said, adding that Afghan security forces have launched an investigation in this regard.

Provincial governor spokesman, Abdul Rauf Ahmadi also confirmed the incident and said an Afghan police officer opened fire on his comrades and killed six of them.

The anti-government militant groups has not commented regarding the incident so far.

This was the latest insider attack by an Afghan police officer which was carried out almost two weeks after an Afghan local police (ALP) officer stabbed his three comrades to death in southern Uruzgan province of Afghanistan.
