Suicide attack in Faryab leaves at least 17 dead, several wounded

July 22, 2015

At least 17 people were killed and over 30 others were wounded in a suicide attack in northern Faryab province of Afghanistan.

The provincial police chief Baryalai Basharyar Parwari said the incident took place in a busy market in Alamar district.

He said the suicide bomber detonated his explosives around 11:45 am local time in a bid to target the security forces stationed in the market.

The district administrative chief Saleh Saleh said at least 17 people were killed and over 30 others including members of the security forces were wounded in the attack.

No group including the Taliban militants has so far claimed responsibility behind the attack.

Faryab is among the relatively volatile provinces in northern Afghanistan where anti-government armed militant groups are actively operating in a number of its districts and often carry out insurgency activities.
