HERAT CITY (PAN): Four International Security Assistance Force (ISAF) soldiers were injured in a roadside bombing in western Farah province, the alliance said on Saturday.

The explosion took place about 39 kilometres from Farah City, the provincial capital, on Friday afternoon, when a patrol vehicle of Italian soldiers struck a roadside bomb.

ISAF deputy spokesman in western zone M. Andrea Saia told Pajhwok Afghan News four soldiers were injured and their vehicle partially damaged in the blast. The injured soldiers are said to be in stable condition.

About 4,000 Italian troops are deployed to Afghanistan, mostly in western Herat province. Since 2001, 50 Italian soldiers have been killed in the country.
