Afghan police commander shot dead in suspected insider attack

April 1, 2013

An Afghan local police commander was shot dead in a suspected insider attack in northern Faryab province of Afghanistan on Sunday evening.

According to local authorities in northern Faryab province of Afghanistan confirming the report said the incident took place after a number of local police officers opened fire on his commander.

The officials further added that the police officers later joined militants group.

Khwajah Kanti district Abdul Jamil Sediq said the incident took place late Sunday evening in this district, killing local police commander Haider.

Mr. Sediqi further added around 4 Afghan local police officers were involved in the shooting and they fled the area along with the weapons and ammunition to join militants.

A spokesman for the Taliban group Zabiullah Mujahid claimed responsibility behind the incident and said the attack was carried out by Taliban fighters.

However Khwajah Kanti district chief Abdul Jamil Sediqi said that initial reports suggest that the incident took place following verbal clash among the police commander and police officers.
