Heavy explosion in Herat kill or injure 9 Afghan police officers

May 21, 2013

A heavy explosion rocked western Herat province of Afghanistan early Tuesday morning, killing or injuring a number of Afghan national police officers.

According to local officials in Herat province, the incident took place around 9:30am after a police vehicle struck with a roadside improvised explosive device.

Provincial security commandment spokesman, Abdul Rauf Ahmadi confirming the report said the incident took place in Chesht district.

He said at least seven Afghan police officers were killed and two others were injured following the blast.

No group including the Taliban militants has so far claimed responsibility behind the incident.
