Treason and the Supreme War Crime Committed by the British Government

By Dr. David Halpin

July 02, 2013

Mr Mel Stride MP for Devon Central

Dear Mr Stride,

I need to define 'treason' as used below.

Firstly we start with the definition of a supreme war crime as defined at Nurnberg. That is to engage or conspire to engage in aggressive war, 'from which all other crimes flow'.

The UK's part in Iraq was exactly that. So too is the 'war' in Afghanistan, and Libya since. Not one of these wars were/are defensive. In Syria, the war or rebellion, is being fought by surrogates, starting with those champions of democracy, Saudi Arabia and Qatar. That they are being fought by surrogates does not absolve us from the charge.

Secondly

"All Members shall refrain in their international relations from the threat or use of force against the territorial integrity or political independence of any state, or in any other manner inconsistent with the Purposes of the United Nations... Nothing contained in the present Charter shall authorize the United Nations to intervene in matters which are essentially within the domestic jurisdiction of any state or shall require the Members to submit such matters to settlement under the present Charter." UN Charter – 1: Purposes and Principles

And now treason.

a. Nothing that Messrs Hague and Cameron have said or done in regard to Syria can be construed as being in defence of the UK or its interests. Given the threats made by them towards President Assad and Syria, that is treason.

b. It is common knowledge (PNAC) and via Oded Yinon (adviser to the Israeli Ministry of Foreign Affairs in the '80s) that Syria was to be destroyed or decimated, as the pathway to the same fate for Iran. Netanyahu, who with many world leaders shows plain features of psychopathy, has spoken with other Israelis of a first strike on Iran if it continues its alleged attempts to add one atomic bomb in the ME where Israel has hundreds. The steady escalation we see now with Russian S300 and S400 missiles on station or on their way threatens world war. That Messrs Cameron and Hague are stirring this cauldron without any advantage for the UK, and every risk, is treason also.
