Missile attack leaves 6 members of a family dead in Badghis

December 10, 2013

Afghan president Hamid Karzai strongly condemned a missile attack in western Baghis province of Afghanistan, which left at least 9 members of a family killed or injured.

According to local authorities in western Badghis province of Afghanistan, at least 6 members of a family, including women and children were killed following a missile attack by Taliban.

The officials further added that the incident took place late Monday night in Bala Murghab district, which also left three other family members of the same family injured.

President Hamid Karzai is in South Africa to attend the memorial service of Nelson Mandela. Karzai condemning the incident said that those involved behind attacks on civilians are servants of the foreigners.

Karzai also instructed local officials in Badghis province to immediately start investigations into the incident, and provide assistance to those who were injured in the attack.

No group including the Taliban militants has so far claimed responsibility behind the incident.

Badghis is among the relatively peaceful provinces in western Afghanistan; however militants have recently increased their insurgency activities in a number of its districts.
