Roadside blast targets students in Kunar province

May 18, 2014

At one person was killed and two others were injured following an improvised explosive device (IED) explosion in eastern Kunar province of Afghanistan on Sunday.

Local government officials said the victims of the incident were all students of a Madrasa who were on their way when the blast took place.

Provincial security chief Abdul Habib Syed Khel said the incident took place around 7:00 am local time in Khas Kunar district.

No group including the Taliban militants has so far claimed responsibility behind the incident. The interior ministry of Afghanistan blamed Taliban group for the blast.

Taliban militants frequently use improvised explosive device (IED) as the weapon of their choice to target Afghan and coalition security forces which normally leads to civilian casualties.

Kunar is among the volatile provinces in eastern Afghanistan where the anti-government armed militant groups including the Taliban militants are actively operating in its various districts.
