Pakistani soldiers operate in Afghanistan in civilian clothes

June 22, 2014

The Pakistani soldiers have increased to their presence and attacks in eastern Kunar province of Afghanistan, the defense minister said Sunday.

The issue was shared during the National Security Council (NSC) meeting chaired by President Hamid Karzai.

Defense Minister Bismillah Mohammadi said the Pakistani soldiers are operating in civilian clothes in parts of eastern Kunar province.

Mohammadi further added that heavy and modern weapons have been used in attacks on Afghan national security forces during the recent days.

He said the Taliban militants do not have access to weapons which have been used against the Afghan forces.

The security officials also said that the group has increased to its attacks in other parts of the country including Helmand and Nangarhar provinces, where civilians are also being targeted.

In the meantime, the National Security Council (NSC) instructed the Afghan security forces to thwart the activities of the group and take immediate actions in this
