Woman injured following cross-border shelling in Kunar

October 19, 2014

A woman was injured following cross-border shelling from the other side of Durand Line in eastern Kunar province.

Provincial police chief, Abdul Habib Syed Khel said at least 50 rockets were fired in the latest wave of cross-border shelling in Sarkano and Dangam districts.

Syed Khel further added that the shelling started late Saturday night and continued until early Sunday morning which left a civilian house damaged and a 35-year-old woman dead.

According to Syed Khel, the rockets are fired from Mohmand Agency by Pakistani military.

The Pakistani military has been shelling eastern provinces of Afghanistan, specifically eastern Kunar province during the recent years.

Dozens of people have been killed or injured while several others have been forced to flee the area due to persistent shelling by Pakistani military.

According to reports, the Pakistani military has fired over 5,000 rockets in Kunar province during the past two years.
